REPORT.

To the Honorable the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia.

The Board of Directors of Girard College beg leave respectfully to present their report for the year 1867.

During the year that has past, the College has afforded instruction and maintenance to five hundred pupils, seventeen of its inmates have been bound as apprentices, seven have been expelled, as unworthy to associate with the rest of the inmates, four have had their indentures cancelled, death has removed two to another world, and forty-nine orphans have been admitted to its benefits. The health of the boys during the year has been unusually good. No serious epidemic has prevailed, and the treatment of the cases, submitted to our able physicians, has resulted in the restoration to health of all but the two whose deaths we have mentioned. For this, our thanks are due to a kind and gracious Providence, who has watched over our numerous family, and mercifully dispensed to them the enjoyment of health and strength. Much of the excellent sanitary condition of the College is, doubtless, due, under the divine blessing, to the out-door exercise in which the pupils are permitted to indulge, and to the healthy location of the Institution, whilst the plain, but wholesome fare upon which they are fed day by day, imparts to them the necessary amount of nourishment for the development of their bodies, and yields them a sufficient supply of physical vigor, uncontaminated by artificial luxuries or unnatural stimulants.

It is a source of pleasure to the Board that during the year that has passed, they have once more been enabled to extend the benefits of the Institution to many, who have been anxiously waiting for some time to enjoy its advantages. New members of our household have been admitted, and care has been taken to replenish our ranks as fast as vacancies have occurred therein. We trust and hope that in a short time the resources of the Institution will be so increased, as to justify the City in permitting a larger number than ever to participate in its advantages, and in expanding this charity to as wide an extent as was contemplated by its benevolent founder.

The heating apparatus in the main College edifice having been found deficient, the experiment has been made of imparting the necessary amount of warmth by steam, through the medium of a Harrison Boiler, which, so far, has worked admirably, and fulfilled the expectations of the Board. Repairs, however, and painting are needed in many parts of the premises, which will require an expenditure of money, which can scarcely be withheld any longer without serious detriment. The doing of these repairs has been delayed for several years, in consequence of the funds being required for the expenses of our household, but we shall be obliged to ask in future for sufficient to maintain our buildings and grounds in such good order and condition as may reflect credit upon the College.

There is especially needed on the premises a building, or rather a hall, calculated to be used as a chapel, and also to be employed for the purposes of exhibition and for a general gathering of the pupils. The room now devoted to this purpose is small and inconvenient, badly ventilated, and in every respect unfitted for the uses to which it is appropriated. We call the attention of your honorable bodies to this need, so that when future appropriations are asked for such a structure, it may not be said you were not apprised of its necessity.

In the educational department we have to refer to a few changes made since our last report was presented. Professor Coxe was duly elected in the early part of the year to succeed Professor Corson, as Professor of English Literature, and Professor L. Stevens was elected in the spring to fill a vacancy in the chair of Natural Philosophy and Chemistry. During the same period, Miss Lottie Overn has been added to our list of female teachers, thus making our corps of Professors and teachers complete. Care has been taken to carry out the Will of the Testator, as to the course of study prescribed for the orphans, and to have each branch thoroughly and perfectly taught. Whilst many of our pupils have proved, as it was naturally to be expected, slow and dilatory in acquiring knowledge, the vast majority of them may be reported as ready and willing to receive the instruction imparted, and as making commendable progress in their studies. A course of Latin has been added to the list of what is taught. It is true that Mr. Girard, in his Will, does not forbid but does not recommend the study of the dead languages; but as he does prescribe a course of French and Spanish as necessary, and as the knowledge of the Latin aids materially in the acquisition of these languages, to say nothing of its utility in the study of our own, advantages which were not so highly appreciated in Mr. Girard's day as now, it was thought advisable by the Directors to introduce it into the College course, not as displacing that which must be taught, but as an assistance and aid thereto. The annual distribution of prizes for good conduct and scholarship was made on the eve of New Year's Day, when quite a large number who were deemed worthy received special marks of approbation at the hands of the officers of the Institution.

In September last, the vacancy created in the office of the President was filled by the election of William H. Allen, L. L. D., to that post, and at the same time the vacancy created in the office of Matron was filled by the election of Miss Jane Mitchell to that office. Both of the present incumbents having previously occupied these high positions, and being acquainted with the responsibilities imposed upon them thereby, the Board trust and believe that under their administration the interests of the College will be well and efficiently protected, and its affairs advantageously administered.

Difficulty has been experienced in binding out our pupils in accordance with the terms of Mr. Girard's Will, and this difficulty appears to increase in consequence of the breaking up of the old system of apprenticeship, and the introduction of machinery into trades which were formerly carried on by the labor of the hands. This difficulty has been met hitherto by the efforts put forth to find proper positions for our graduating pupils, but we cannot fail to see that in the future these difficulties will be increased until, possibly, permanent situations can only be found for a few of those desiring them, upon their reaching the age suggested as a proper one for entering upon the course of apprenticeship. When this point is reached, it will be necessary to devise some means for harmonizing the directions of the Will with the existing order of affairs.

In closing our report, we desire to express our renewed wishes for the prosperity of the Institution over which we have been appointed Directors, and to assert our firm belief that, as an active and living charity, it has but few equals in the annals of benevolence.

All which is respectfully submitted on behalf of the Board by

CHAS. E. LEX,
President.
